AUTHOR VISITS: MARCH 2024

In March and, as part of Barnwood Book Month, we hosted two author visits. The authors and poets, Dean Atta and Spoz, were received warmly by the students who listened to their talks, took part in workshops and then wrote their own poetry.

Dean worked with the students in Y9 and Y10 talking about topical and personal subjects, while Spoz worked with those in Y7 and Y8. In Dean's presentations, he spoke about his journey to becoming a writer and the inspiration behind his two young adult novels in verse, The Black Flamingo and Only on the Weekends.

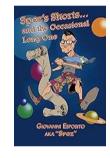

During Spoz's whole year group talk to the Y7 students, he asked if anybody knew of any poets. The students recalled William Shakespeare, William Blake, Michael Rosen, Dean Atta and Mr Mountain to name a few! Dean had visited the previous week and although he worked with the older students, it was clear that his presence had been felt around the school. Mr Mountain is clearly making an impression too!

Several students wrote fantastic raps and poems (see the term 4 whole school newsletter for examples) and the younger students learnt an acronym for RAP (Rhythm and Poetry).

There was a buzz around school during the visits and it was great to see the students engaging with the poets and embracing the tasks.

FABULOUS LIBRARIES FROM AROUND THE WORLD: BIBLIOTECA JOANINA/JOANINE LIBRARY

Built in the 18th century, the Joanine Library is located in the Paço das Escolas of the University of Coimbra, next to the Faculty of Law. When it comes to monumental libraries, the Joanine Library is perhaps the most famous. Built by King John V of Portugal, the baroque work is known for the use of gold in its decoration. It houses around 70,000 books, some of which are historical editions. Inside the building there are three rooms interconnected by arches. Gold was the most used decorative metal.

To preserve the works, the library has become home to bats, feeding on insects that would otherwise affect the paper quality of centuries-old books. Another library situated in Portugal, the Mafra Palace Library, is also home to dozens of bats, again serving as pest control.
